SPECIAL WARNEN

IT WAS A SHAME

There is one particularly distressing feature of the action of Great Britain and Germany in declaring war on each other. It wounds us deep-

If they were going to declare war at all they should have done so in time for the afternoon papers. Seven o'clock in the evening is no time to declare war.—From an afternoon paper.

The Intelligencer is giving the full Associated Press report of progress of the European war in addition to Daily Bulletin Reports. Add to this the news of South Carolina politics. And can't you see what an absorbing and interesting edition each issue of The Intelligencer will be for the next few months at least? In view of the general interest and to demonstrate to you that The Intelligencer prints all the news we make this special offer:

Servian Soldiers Are Brave Fighters

Servia maintains only 30,000 men in times of peace, but she has mobilized all of her male population trained to bear arms, and the number is 324,000 men. The Servian army is largely composed of veteraus with a spiendid

Only one man in that vast throng and finally succeeded in wrapping them about poor Santa until the cruel flames had been smothered. But not intil they had sent their deadly fabries into the lungs of our aplended Sunday school superintendent, who was our Santa that night.

How smother a church? Put it on a purely commercial footing. Wrap the clock of worldliness about it. Hedge in the pastor with instructions Hedge in the pastor with instructions to wink at the more common sinful practices. Tell him that you want so poor people in the pews. Agree with the worldling who tells you that the lodges are far superior to the church. Wipe out all dividing lines between worldliness and churchliness. Let church folks do everything that unschurch folks do. Fill church of floes with worldliness. and let the preacher count them. I think that you can easily extinguish the warmth fices with worldliness, and let the preacher count them. I think that you can easily extinguish the warmth and glow that and church has had. Second, let the fire burn cat. Woatern prairiemen employ this method. When great flames threaten to sweep the county or state, they rush forth with teams and plows and surround the conflagration. The fires slowly eat themselves to death.

To let the church fires burn out don't add tuel to them, Stay away from the Sunday school, the prayer infar, the preaching programmes. Let wittle triffe keep you away. Stay hole an entertain worldly company (That leaves a fine impression of you chared valuation apon your uneaved friends). Let the clouds or the host are the cold be rear excuse. May and October are about the only perfect mentile for church-going. You stay away the other ten. If your church fires are low, see if you haven't plow-one to go with you. Act as though of the members to comprehend that cancle seach of them advertise the whole. Carelessness on the part of christian people is the church's west foe today. It is my purpose to illumine the path that many tread. There are three ways to quench fire.

First, smother it. I can but illustrate this by a christian scene of my boyhood. The old church was having its Christman cheer (or tree). It was packed. The coming of Santa with this cotton covered coat and great pack is continuously to the privilege and never noticed the hi, cotton covered coat and great pack hall brought the climax to the joyous hour. er thank him for the hours he has spent pouring over his pages. He must come new every service. When the service is over, remember the church is no place to be friendly Don't shake hands with any one. Rush out as you would at the theatre. One would think the building was on fire by the way our churches empty these days. On the way home don't let any one suspect that you have been at church. Try hot to pay any attantion to the church after you leave it. Don't refer to it all week. Never admit that it has any claim upon your time, thought, talent, prayer or money. er or money. Keep avery cent you can away from the church. Poverty is a sure path to humility! Then don't forgive any one. Forgiving heals hurts. So don't be charitable. If you read church literature, it may enthuse you, and you will want to do more for its great enterprises. Why should you read church literature? It is not necessary for you to keep informed concerning the movements of its millions of members, thousands of pastors and hundreds of millions of dollars invested in church institutions. If you read church papers, you might get some idea of the magnitude of the church. Out of your ignorance you can throw a constant stream of cold water upon the fiery zoal of the church. My friends, whisther, you help or hinder, the church of God is here to stay. It was imprisoned, burned at the stake, and parseculed unfo strange cities long before you tried your little hand. In one of your homes I saw a baby ploture. Af first it seemed that the tiny follow was sitting all alone, but on closer view I saw a strong hand reaching from behind firmly grasping the child's dress.

The greatest topic in our section is politics. If you see two persons meet who haven't seen one another in ever so long, they may take time enough to shake hands, but they haven't time to sak how each other is getting along until after they discuss politics or ask "Who's your man for senate?" I don't hear names of candidates for office mentioned but Hiease and Smith. Governor Riesse must be an awful terror in the political arena. Two years ago you heard nothing talked in politics but Blease and Jones. We have more offices in this state than Everylody may say whatever they please.
